Dr. Jay, a graduate of the Henry M. Goldman School of Dental Medicine at Boston University, has owned his state-of-the-art, private practices in Pennsylvania for 15 years, located in Media, Conshohocken, West Chester, and Wayne. Renowned in the community, he has been featured on the Wellness Hour and recognized as Town Talk's #1 Dentist for eight consecutive years.

Despite his accolades, Dr. Jay remains grounded and committed to giving back, participating in initiatives like annual free dental days, Toys for Tots, and various food drives. His experience opening multiple practices has taught him the vital link between a positive office culture and strong patient relationships, which in turn leads to improved case acceptance. To ensure his legacy continues, he now focuses on training his Associates through a system he calls clinical duplication, allowing them to replicate his successful approach in patient care and practice management.
